

ALL FRANCE GREET'S PRESIDENT-ELECT

Choice of M. Poincaré Proves His Popularity Throughout Republic.

BRAND IS NEW PREMIER?

Powerful Politician Asked to Form Cabinet to Sit After February 17.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
Paris, Jan. 18. The newspapers throughout France are enthusiastic and anxious in welcoming the election of M. Poincaré as President of the Republic. It seems that the feeling throughout the country was so strongly in favor of the President that the National Assembly at Versailles feared to take any other decision.

The election of M. Poincaré seems to have received in all other countries, the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times writes a high political personage who is probably Prime Minister, as saying: "At last you are going to have a President who will not only reside but will direct, and who will be a second Thiers. We Russians are glad that you were about to lose the collaboration of a man who has saved your country in the very first days of the Powers during the last few years."

M. Poincaré is already experiencing the results of the intimacy of the recent campaign. In theory there is nothing to prevent the President-elect from remaining at the head of the Ministry and making his resignation in his own hands when he has taken up his residence. Ordinarily it might be expected that Parliament would treat a month as the interim during which only routine business would be carried on. Such a belief would have enabled President Poincaré to leave St. Petersburg for his residence on the 15th of January, but the Ministry has decided to wait until the 17th of February.

The anxiety shown at Versailles yesterday made it clear, however, that nothing would give ex-Premier Comptoul greater pleasure than the formation and functioning of the President-elect. One morning newspaper suggests that President Poincaré will be asked to resign at once and allow M. Comptoul to occupy the place of President, but such an expedient would be contrary to the spirit of the Constitution which directs that there shall be an interval of a month between the outgoing and incoming Presidents. The reason for the Ministry to resign and a new cabinet to be formed. In this work the outgoing President consists in a series of the President-elect rather than his own.

M. Brand, the former powerful Premier who carried out the Government programme in the railway strike, has been asked to form a new cabinet. He has refused the usual delay before accepting.

The President-elect in receiving the newspaper men at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, where they had gone to receive the latest news, said: "I am determined not to submit to all the rigors of etiquette. I shall walk about alone as I have in the past. I shall attend meetings of the Assembly if not regularly, at least the important sessions and shall wear the uniform of an academician. The Constitution does not permit me to attend Parliament. That is quite enough. I have dinner engagements after February 18, which I intend to keep."

It is safe to prophesy that Aristides Briand, if he forms a Ministry, will include some of M. Poincaré's opponents with a view to placating them. It seems certain that MM. Bourgeois and Delcasse will not remain in the Ministry.

Prominent Hungarian Contractor
Arrested in Budapest.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 18.—Ignaz Pallah, a prominent railroad contractor of Hungary, was arrested here to-day on a charge of embezzling 8,000,000 kronen, or some $1,600,000, from the funds of certain railroad companies and financial institutions of which he was a director. One London company is named as the loser of $300,000 of the amount. The charge is also made against Pallah that he issued a considerable quantity of forged stock certificates.

NERO'S FISH POND FOUND.

There He Bred Exotic Delicacies for the Imperial Table.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
Rome, Jan. 18. The most important archaeological discovery yet made was brought out by Prof. Boni to-day in his excavations on the Palatine. Beneath the basins of the Flavian palace he found two narrow stairways leading to the "Piscina," a water reservoir consisting of five large compartments. It is still intact and is covered and well preserved by watertight cement. It was especially constructed on different levels, and in this way the water was enabled to descend.

The reservoir dates from the time of Nero, when it was used as a salt water fish pond with the object of the artificial breeding of exotic fish for the imperial table. The artificial rearing and hatching of fish in ancient Rome is attested by Pliny, who alludes to a special fish called the scarus, which was found between Rhodes and Crete, but was bred artificially.

Rome deplores the glutinous which has secured delicacies by sowing the seas and giving them new inmates.

LIKES BRITISH AUDIENCES.

Hale Hamilton Overwhelmed With His London Reception.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
London, Jan. 18. Hale Hamilton, the American actor who is playing the leading part in "Get Rich Quick, Widdowson," was welcomed before he came to this country that he would be "home" if the British public did not like the play. The English people, however, have taken very kindly to him and to his Cuban play.

Talking with The Sun's correspondent to-day Mr. Hamilton said: "My reception here has been wonderful. As a matter of fact I have never received such cordial treatment as right here in the British metropolis. The universal praise for my poor efforts has simply overwhelmed me. In all the time I have played in this play I have never had a reception so great or so kind."

Discussing the difference between American and English audiences Mr. Hamilton said: "I think a London audience is an audience enjoys a farce even more than an American one." Mr. Hamilton thinks his English colleagues are better comedians than the American actors.

PRINCE ALBERT NOW A SAILOR.

King George's Second Son Leaves on Sixth Months Voyage.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
London, Jan. 18. Prince Albert, the second son of King George, sailed from Liverpool to-day aboard the training ship "Cambridge" on a six months voyage. He will go first to Tenerife, Canary Islands, and then to the West Indies. He will arrive in Porto Rico on March 18, in Jamaica on March 22, at Havana on April 3 and at Hamilton, Bermuda on April 10. From the latter place the ship will go to Gibraltar, Malta and the Mediterranean.

It was planned at first to give Prince Albert a special cabin aboard the ship, but the King promptly vetoed this. He declared that his son must be treated as an ordinary cadet. For this reason he travelled from London with fifty or sixty other cadets, carrying his hammock and handling his own baggage. Some of his comrades tried to screen the Prince from the camera men, but Albert told them not to trouble themselves about it.

He went aboard the ship in the most formal manner. Capt. Smith received the cadets in the order of seniority.

BRITISH DOCTORS WILLING.

Give Up Their Fight Against Lloyd George's Insurance Act.

London, Jan. 18. By a majority of 115 against 35 the members of the British Medical Association determined to-day to abandon their opposition to the national insurance act. Under this act a monetary allowance and medical attendance to the working classes during sickness is provided.

The British doctors believed that the amount paid to them under the act was too small and they had been pledged not to serve. Politics is also believed to have had a part in their refusal, in which many of the doctors residing in London continue to hold out.

THRILLING RESCUES FROM STRANDED SHIP

All Passengers and Crew on the Veronese Have Been Saved.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
London, Jan. 18.—The owners of the Veronese have received a telegram from Oporto stating that all the passengers and the captain and crew have been landed. The last man to leave the wrecked vessel was the wireless operator.

The captain reports that six of the passengers and two of the crew perished. Their names are unknown. The chief steward and doctor were injured. The captain pays a tribute to the splendid rescue work of the local authorities and fishermen.

Oporto, Jan. 18.—All of the passengers and crew of the stranded steamship Veronese have been taken off the vessel in lifeboats and transferred to the Government tug Berro, which has brought them to this port.

The wireless operator Smith, in telling the story of the wreck, said he got into communication with the Dutch steamship Hollandia five minutes after the Veronese struck the rocks during the storm. The engine rooms became flooded and knocked out his communication, but he signalled to shore by the Morse code continually.

Third officer Henderson, who used the flag signals during the entire period when the passengers were in peril, said that Boatswain Martin repeatedly risked his life in trying to get the rocket line on the sea swept decks.

Chief officer Hugo said he had tremendous difficulty in getting the steerage passengers out of the flooded compartment. They were paralyzed with fright and several were drowned during the panic.

Condensed milk was the only food which could be procured until a case of oranges was providentially washed aboard. There was great jubilation when the men were being landed, and the thousands on shore cheered themselves hoarse.

FINDS PACKERS IN AGREEMENT.

Missouri Commission, However,
Fails to Report Actual Monopoly.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 18.—Daniel Dillon, the commissioner appointed by the Supreme Court of Missouri to take evidence in the suit filed by the Attorney-General to oust the alleged packers' combination from the State, reported to the Supreme Court to-day that he found the six companies named in the proceedings in an agreement to control prices.

"But I do not think," the report adds, "that the evidence is sufficiently specific in regard to the volume of business done by others to warrant the finding that the combination constitutes a monopoly."

The six companies named in the proceedings are Swift & Co., Armour & Co., Morris & Co., the National Packing Company, the Hammond Packing Company and the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision Company.

The commissioner makes no recommendation as to whether the packers shall be ousted.

SHRANK WRITES MEMOIRS.

Roosevelt Assassin Is Comfortable in Insane Asylum.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Jan. 18.—John Schrank has proved a model inmate at the insane asylum. The man who shot Col. Roosevelt eats and sleeps well and never complains. He takes a daily walk to the railroad station and writes on his "memoirs." He allows none to see his work, saying it will be interesting only to posterity. Each section is headed "by John Schrank, assassin."

Speaking of his present condition Schrank said: "I am satisfied. My food is good; my clothing comfortable. What can any man like me want? I am of no further use to the world. I have fulfilled my destiny. That I failed to accomplish that on which I had set my heart is not my fault. It was merely an unfortunate combination of circumstances."

TWO PERISH IN SNOWSLIDE.

Entire Utah Town Threatened by Crash of Overhanging Snow.

DELTA, Cal., Jan. 18.—Edward Broadwell, superintendent of the Trinity Broadwell mine near here and son of James Treadwell, one of the two brothers who discovered the famous Treadwell mine of Alaska, met death to-day in a snow slide at the mine.

Dave William, an employee at the mine, also was killed and two other men narrowly escaped death. The bodies lie beneath many feet of snow and no attempt has been made to recover them, as fresh slides are feared.

PARK CITY, Utah, Jan. 18.—Park City to-day is in danger of a snowslide catastrophe that may wipe it off the map. Overhanging snow threatens to break loose and crash down upon the town.

Three slides already have occurred, and in the last one yesterday two men and a four horse team were buried. Alfred Thomas and Fred Kummer were rescued, bruised but alive, from ten feet beneath the surface. Kummer was found standing on his head. One of the horses was killed.

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 18.—Because of heavy snowslides the Solome Derby, the first of the winter dog races, was postponed from to-day until January 27. The dogs will race from Nome to Solome and return, sixty-five miles.
